Mt. Sorak is renowned for its scenic beauty and is considered one of the most beautiful mountains on the Korea peninsula. It was located in North Korea before the Korean War, but it became part of South Korea with the truce agreement that followed the War. The Sorakson National Park occupies 373 square kilometers across the region, ranging from Sokcho, Inje, Yanghang to Kosong. The highest point at 1708 meters above sea level is Taech'ong Peak. The park was designated as a national monument in 1965 and a national park in 1970. The jagged rock spires of Outer Sorak contrast with Inner Sorak, which has an abundance of valleys.

SPECIAL THANKS, HAN RIVER CRUISE SPONSORS!
